

Wildfire Devastation in Colorado Communities

Our hearts are heavy and grieving with all those affected by the devastation of the fires that yesterday swept through many Colorado communities in Boulder County. The magnitude of this tragedy is both unprecedented and still unfolding. For those Coloradans with the least resources who are unsure of what may be left of their homes, businesses and other aspects of their livelihoods, we know rebuilding will soon be, if it is not already, a much-needed focus. Since this horrific event began, we have all seen the eagerness and hard work of fire fighters, emergency workers, law enforcement, local leaders and community members from all over the state to help one another and support the spaces and communities that many call home.

The Foundation will share all critical resources we find, and will be standing by to provide our support to those impacted. While there are many emergency and rebuilding supports currently being established, we encourage you to visit the following today:

- Boulder County Wildfire Fund for donations
- Boulder Office of Emergency Management for the latest info regarding evacuation services and needs

TYPE

Blog

POST DATE

Dec 31, 2021

BY

Karen McNeil-Miller